

ADVANCES IN NUMERICAL METHODS FOR LINEAR AND NON-LINEAR DYNAMICS

ALEXANDER V. IDESMAN*, GREGORY M. HULBERT †

* Texas Tech University
Box 41021, Lubbock, TX 79409, USA
E-mail: alexander.idesman@ttu.edu
<http://www.me.ttu.edu/Idesman>

† University of Michigan
301 Beal, Ann Arbor, MI 48109, USA
E-mail: hulbert@umich.edu
<https://me-web2.engin.umich.edu/pub/directory/bio?uniqname=hulbert>

Key words: Numerical Methods, Structural Dynamics, Wave Propagation, Dispersion, Error Estimators

ABSTRACT

The objective of this symposium is to discuss new advances in numerical methods for linear and non-linear dynamics. Topics of interest include, but are not limited to: new implicit and explicit time-integration methods for structural dynamics, wave propagation and impact problems; new space-time methods for dynamical systems; methods with reduced dispersion; filtering spurious oscillations; adaptive methods and space and time error estimators, application of new numerical methods to, in particular but not exclusively, engineering dynamics problems.